Spotlight

'The Idea of Islam Today: Towards Non-Orientalist Genealogies' An International Symposium in Honor of Talal Asad

Inaugurating its new program in Islamic Studies, AUB is hosting an international symposium in honor of Talal Asad entitled "The Idea of Islam Today: Towards Non-Orientalist Genealogies," on September 25 and 26, 2014, in West Hall, Auditorium A. READ MORE

News

2014 QS Rankings: AUB leads Arab universities in faculty citations and employer reputation

AUB has moved up a spot in the 2014 QS Rankings, scoring highest among Arab universities in terms of faculty citations and employer reputation, indicating quality research and excellence in education. READ MORE

New partnership provides educational opportunities for financially disadvantaged Lebanese students

AUB students studying basic and applied sciences, engineering, business, or economics are now eligible for a new scholarship, thanks to a partnership established between AUB and the Association of Specialization and Scientific Guidance. READ MORE

'Arab Uprisings May Doom Middle East Christians'

AUB Professor Hilal Khashan writes for the Middle East Forum on the situation in the Arab region after the uprisings and the threats against the Christian presence. READ MORE

'Arabs lead at the Hult Prize annual event'

Arabian Business reports that Aramex founder and AUB trustee Fadi Ghandour will be one of the judging panelists at the annual Hult Prize in New York City, the world's largest student competition and crowdsourcing platform for

Events

Upcoming events

- Anis Makdisi Program in Literature lecture 'The Other Architecture: A Sustainable Paradigm Geometry, Vernacular Architecture and Hassan Fathy,' Sept. 22, 5:30pm, Bldg. 37 READ MORE
- IFI lecture 'Relative Deprivation and Politics in the Arab Uprisings: Political Grievances across Bahrain, Egypt, and Tunisia,' Sept. 23, 4pm, IFI Aud. READ MORE
- IFI lecture 'Islam, Human Rights and the Possibility of Reasonable Pluralism: A case from the Tunisian constitution,' Sept. 24, 12noon, IFI Aud. READ MORE
- Secular Club play 'Beirut... Tariq Al Jdideh,' Sept. 25, 7pm, Issam Fares Hall READ MORE
- Computer Science '6th Lebanese Collegiate Programming Competition,' Sept. 26-27 READ MORE
- WAAAUB North American Regional Summit 2014, Sept. 26-28, Atlanta Evergreen Marriott Conference Resort READ MORE
- IFI symposium 'Israel's War on Gaza: Political, Moral, and Legal Accountability,' Sept. 28, IFI Aud.
'Lebanon programmers to battle at AUB'
The Daily Star reports on the second annual Lebanese Collegiate Programming Competition which is organized by AUB's Computer Science Department.

'Establishing a food trail in the Higher Shouf and West Bekaa region'
Future TV reports on an ESDU project which is done in partnership with the Food Heritage Foundation and the Shouf Biosphere Reserve. The project is supported by USAID in the framework of LIVCD program.

Safety & Security Information - September 22, 2014

Announcements

- Check out AUB Libraries first online exhibit
- Participate in 'The Lemon Car Game' research study
- Register for 'AUB Civic Leadership Academy'
- 'Back to School Free Heart Screening'
- Nominate for 'AUB Teaching Excellence Award'
- Register for 'Women's Self Defense' workshop
- Volunteer with 'Teach for Lebanon'
- Register for CEC Fall term!