The Faculty of Health Sciences (FHS) at the American University of Beirut (AUB) is offering the Executive Master in Health Care Leadership (EMHCL): an innovative academic program to enhance the knowledge and skills of current and future generations of health care leaders. The program is tailored to the needs of the health care sectors in the MENA region, with the goal of advancing public health knowledge and practice.

FHS is the first independent school of public health in the Arab world. It prepares professionals to analyze and respond to the most pressing public health concerns in the region. Its Graduate Public Health Program is the first public health program to be accredited by the Council on Education for Public Health (CEPH) outside the Americas.

The innovative EMHCL program is flexible and covers a wide range of topics including: Communicating with Policy Makers; Evidence-Based Management; Marketing in Healthcare; Organizational Reform; Performance Improvement and Innovation; and Strategic Planning and Decision-Making, among others.
Who Should Apply?

- Mid-level managers and senior executives working in or interested in the health care sector
- Professionals committed to leading their institutions towards excellence
- Motivated individuals planning to play a leadership role in health systems

Curriculum and Credit Requirements

The EMHCL program is a 45-credit master program that offers 21 block courses spread over 18 to 24 months.

Enjoy a flexible schedule

- Monthly attendance is required once a month for a 5-day intensive session
- This part-time study format allows you to continue working without significant interruptions
- Follow-up is conducted between sessions

Admission Requirements

An applicant is considered for admission to the EMHCL program if he/she:

- Has at a minimum a bachelor degree that is recognized by AUB
- Meets the English Language Proficiency Requirement (ELPR) of AUB
- Has at least 5 years of professional experience in the field of health care, management or a related field

Selection Criteria

The EMHCL program targets seasoned executives who demonstrate leadership potential with a minimum of five years professional experience in the health or non-health sectors. Applicants must be currently employed in a managerial position.

In order to be shortlisted, applicants must submit letters of recommendation, in addition to a personal statement explaining their interest in the program.

A selection interview will then follow to conclude the admission process.
