What are the risks associated with the radiation dose associated with DXA scan in infants?

There are no risks associated with this dose that is equivalent to 20 hours of exposure to background radiation, based on Duke Radiation Safety assessment online and their suggested statement.