Undergraduate Program

The undergraduate program focuses on theory and research as the basis for practice. It prepares skilled generalists who are able to provide high-quality, compassionate care to a multicultural clientele in various health care settings. The emphasis in the undergraduate programs is on nurturing personal attributes among students such as responsibility, maturity, cooperation, self reliance, and leadership skills.

You can choose from among three undergraduate programs depending on your interests, career goals, and previous nursing experience. All undergraduate programs are registered by the Department of Education of New York State and accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE) in the United States.

Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) for students with a recognized secondary school diploma (high school, BacI, BacII) interested in doing an undergraduate degree in nursing; the program can be completed in three years if pursued full-time.

Registered Nurse-Bachelor of Science in Nursing (RN-BSN) for students with a technical degree in nursing who are interested in earning additional certification; the program is flexible and can be individually tailored.

Bachelor of Science-Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BS-BSN) for students with an undergraduate (BS or BA) degree who are interested in earning a second undergraduate degree in nursing.
