Historical Sketch

Edward Frederick Nickoley was born at Long Grove, Illinois, on May 29, 1873. He graduated from the University of Illinois with a B.A. degree in 1898. Subsequently, he received his M.A. and Ph.D. from the same University. In the year 1900, he was called to Beirut to organize the School of Commerce.

During the later years of his being a principal of the School of Commerce, he served as Professor of Economics in the College. In January 1919, when President Howard Bliss was unexpectedly called away from Beirut, he asked Professor Nickoley to serve as Acting President during his absence. President Bliss was never to return to Beirut again, so that the Acting President found himself obliged to serve in an exceedingly difficult position during one of the most critical periods in the history of the institution. After guiding the University with great skill and faith through the difficult post-war period of readjustment, Professor Nickoley became Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences in 1924. He laid the foundations for modern university work of a high grade. During the latter years of his life, he was chairman of a committee to supervise the lower classes. He became Acting Principal to the international College in 1936-1937. During the entire period of his connection with the University, he took an active part in developing and furthering athletics. He died on March 13, 1937. (Excerpts from Al-Kulliyah Review, v. 4, March 20, 1937, p: 1-4).
