

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY OF BEIRUT
Office of the President

November 13, 2019

Dear Members of the AUB community,

As the situation in Lebanon remains in flux, for the safety of our community, AUB will be closed tomorrow November 14, 2019, except for the Medical Center and essential services.

We are working actively to ensure that necessary measures are in place for students to complete the semester within a defined period. Professors will be offering classes on campus whenever the transportation and security situation allows and will make course materials available online for the remainder of the semester so that our academic mission can move forward despite the challenges of these turbulent times.

Faculties, schools, departments, and/or professors will communicate to students the plans to complete their courses and will provide updated syllabi as necessary. In the next few days, we will be providing more information on a revised calendar for the semester.

We will update you soon on the anticipated date for the resumption of classes on campus.

Best regards,

Fadlo R. Khuri, MD
President
