

'International Biodiversity Day' at AUB (IBDAA)

Thursday, May 20, 2010

Ibsar or the Nature Conservation Center for Sustainable Futures at AUB, is holding its 4th annual "International Biodiversity Day at AUB" (IBDAA) exhibition on May 21, 2010. The exhibition will take place near West Hall and the Main Gate. This event will be especially significant as the United Nations has declared 2010 to be the International Year of Biodiversity.

In past years, students have showed their creativity and imagination in IBDAA posters, finding scientific and environmentally-friendly solutions for things as diverse as shoe odor, fruit preservation, and energy savings.