

International Clinical Nutrition Training Program

The Department of Clinical Nutrition at the American University of Beirut Medical Center offers individualized training experience to dietitians who have been educated and working outside Lebanon. The training is tailored to the individual's interests, needs and goals. It aims to develop a current area of practice or acquire a new area of specialization. The length of the experience will be dependent on the learning objectives.

Areas of clinical nutrition practice that candidates can request training in are:

- Nutrition support
- Renal nutrition
- Diabetes
- Bone marrow transplantation
- Pediatrics
- Cardiology
- Maternity
- Oncology
- Surgery
- Bariatric surgery

Interested candidates submit an application form http://services.aubmc.org.lb/ext/ema_train_req/request.html to External Medical Affairs (EMA).

Acceptance is based on review of academic preparation and past work experience.

For further information on services provided by the Department of Clinical Nutrition, please visit http://www.aubmc.org.lb/patientcare/dep_div/Pages/nutrition.aspx

The candidate can also view:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=48_KM3GPn-I

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Toud8VJkPYM>