

Henry Matthews

Translator, Editor, Office of Communications (Campus); 29 years of service

Henry works away from the limelight, producing work of high volume and high impact, and never minding that he is not mentioned. This has never stopped him from continuously seeking to help his team mates, going the extra mile, or even undertaking services beyond what is expected of him, like publishing an Encyclopedia of Lebanese Comics for Jafet Library. Henry is described by his colleagues as a bridge to AUB's history of survival, resilience and excellence.
