"Many came to Lebanon because it was a free, flourishing country." as Samiha Fahas Mishalani, one of the interviewers said. The Center of Arab and Middle Eastern Studies (CAMES) started an Oral History Project under the leadership Prof. Joseph J. Malone, of the Department of History, who attended the First National Colloquium on Oral History, at the University of California in September 1966. The interviews were conducted between September 1969 and August 1970 by Samiha Fahas Mishalani, Maroun Kisirwani, later AUB Dean of Students, and Gladys Salibi Boecker. ## Scope and Content

The CAMES Oral History Collection consists of interviews with prominent public Arab figures. Interviewers of the Center of Arab and Middle Eastern Studies conducted around 54 interviews to document the political, educational, social, cultural life in Lebanon and Middle East during late 1960 and early 1970s. The interviews yielded historical information that would otherwise have gone unrecorded from prominent persons of diverse backgrounds. The interviewees were Lebanese politicians, members of the parliament, ministers and prime ministers (Adel Ousseiran, Raymond Edde, Saeb Salam etc.) educators many of whom were women (Eleanor Kamar and Julinda Abou Nasr); Social activists (Anbara Salam); daughters and wives of Syrian Presidents (Hana Shukri al-Qawatli and Mrs. Barazi, both of Kurdish origins); Iraqi personalities (Ali Kamal and Ibrahim al Allousi) and Yemani leaders (AL Cheikh Ahmad Mohamad An-Nu'man, and Abdallah Bakr, etc.) along with many others.

Arrangement

The Collection is arranged in five series distributed according to the country of origin of the interviewed figure:

- Series I: Cyprus
- Series II: Iraq
- Series III: Lebanon
- Series IV: Syria
- Series V: Yemen

Background History

The Oral History Interviews collection consists of audiotaped interviews with public figures in Lebanon and the Middle East during the late 1960's and early 70's. "Next Vision" transformed these audio tapes to digital format in August 1998. The interviews were either conducted by CAMES or gathered from other sources to document the political, social, and cultural scene during that time. CAMES researchers helped transcribe the interviews. Some of these interviews are made available to the public in collaboration with the Digital Documentation Center at AUB. <https://libwebarchive.aub.edu.lb/BorreLudvigsen/https://almashriq.hiof.no/ddc/projects/comes/interviews/index.html>
