Scope and Content

This collection includes documents related to Stephen Penrose service at AUB, list of his publications, a finding aid of Dr. Penrose papers in Whitman College, as well as some biographical information, correspondence, inauguration ceremony leaflets, financial campaign, conferences, United States tour, his political articles and addresses, his death announcements and press clippings, in addition to Penrose Memorial Fund. It is important to researchers interested in AUB history during critical time that the Middle East was passing by between 1948 and 1954. It also reflects the point of view of President of an American academic institution in the political issues of the area at that time.

Biographical Sketch

Stephen Beasley Linnard Penrose, Jr. was born on March 19, 1908 in Walla Walla, Washington. He was the son of Whitman College President, Stephen B.L. Penrose, Sr. .In 1928, graduated magna cum laude from Whitman College with a BA in Greek language and chemistry. He came to AUB where he taught physics from 1928 to 1931. Penrose then returned to the US and enrolled at Columbia University, receiving a PhD in philosophy in 1934; that same year he married Margaret Dale whom he met at Columbia. Dr. Penrose became a professor of philosophy and psychology in Rockford University, Illinois, 1938-1942, and served as the assistant director of the Near East Colleges Association, New York, 1942- 1954. Dr. Penrose was the special assistant to the office of Strategic Services and in 1947; he served as the assistant secretary to the Secretary of Defense, Washington. In 1948, Dr. Penrose was appointed as the advisor to the US delegation to the third UNESCO conference that same year he succeeded Bayard Dodge as fourth AUB President and was inaugurated at the opening ceremony of the 1948-1949 academic year.

The job of president of both AUB and International College was a challenging one. Penrose needed funds to keep both institutions going. Penrose had ambitious plans to raise ten and a half million dollars to cover the budget of the University for the next ten years. For accomplishing his goal, he traveled extensively in 1954 making numerous trips to the US to secure the financing needed for expansion. He died on December 9, 1954. The Penrose couple had three children: Margaret Dale, Mary Shipman (Polly), and Stephen Beasley Linnard (Stevie) Penrose, III.

During his six years as AUB president, Penrose established an Arab Studied Program, Schools of Engineering and Agriculture, the Department of Public administration, an Institute of Economic Research, School of public Health, the Office of Dean of Students and a Student Council. New buildings were erected: School of Engineering, the Jafet Memorial Library, the Gulbenkian Infirmary, Faculty apartments, a new wing for the University Hospital, and a classroom building and farm complex for the School of agriculture in addition to all of these two Arab vice presidents were appointed.

President Penrose wrote a book on the seventy-fifth anniversary of the University, 1941, "That They May Have Life", an invaluable resource of the history of the American University of Beirut.
