Record Creator: Walīd Ghulmiyah, 1938-2011.

Collection Title: Walid Ghulmiyah Collection, 1960-2012.

Collection Dates: 1960-2012

Physical Description: 20.5 linear feet (61 boxes)

Abstract: Walid Ghulmiyah was a Lebanese musician, composer, conductor, publisher, and educator. An unrelenting supporter of the arts, Ghulmiyah played a leading role in advancing music and art education in Lebanon and the region. Dr. Ghulmiyah headed a number of national art educational projects, including the establishment of the Lebanese National Symphony Orchestra and reviving the Lebanese National Higher Conservatory of Music after the civil war. This collection is primarily composed of music sheets of Ghulmiyah's works, drafts of his various symphonic writings, including different versions and scoring of the six symphonies, which he composed for various occasions, including festivals, films, plays, radio, and TV programs. The collection also contains an extensive amount of press clippings covering his activities and achievements, as well as some personal & official material in various formats: correspondence, photographs, audio-visual recordings, and posters for his concerts.

Language(s): English and Arabic

Scope and Content

The Walid Ghulmiyah collection chiefly consists of music sheets and press clippings covering his professional life between 1962 and 2011. The music sheets include his six symphonies (al-Qadissiya, al-Mutanabbi, al-Yarmuk, ash-Shahid, al-Mawakib, and al-Fajr); as well as his contributions to various forms of the performing arts: films (music composer of al-Qadissiya film, Beirut ya Beirut, etc.), festival productions (Baalbek, Ehden & Byblos, etc.), plays and shows (Sit al-Kul and Caracalla Dance Group shows) & tunes composed for radio & TV shows. Several magazines and press clippings are available in the collection that cover Mr. Ghulmiyah's extensive career. The collection also contains some 30 cassette tapes and recordings of Ghulmiyah's various symphonies, as well as interviews with the musician and other artists; and a collection of articles, speeches & lectures by Dr. Ghulmiyah on music heritage & culture in Lebanon. In addition, the collection features over 70 posters and around 130 photos documenting performances and Ghulmiyah's meetings with fellow artists (Local, Arab & Foreign, i.e., Zaki Nassif, Yoyoma, June Andersen) and other photos reflecting his acquaintance with prominent political figures (Lebanese President Ilyas al Hrawi, Prime Ministers Rafic al-Hariri, PM Fouad Sanyura, and French President Jacques Chirac). In addition, there is a small collection of personal documents, including condolence letters and various correspondence from fellow musicians and colleagues sent to Mrs. Ilham after Dr. Ghulmiyah's passing in 2011. The collection is salient for scholars interested in the study of social history and culture, as well as music publishing history.
